STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

The protection of official secrets is regulated by the Indian Official Secrets Act, 1923. Except for a few minor amendments made in 1951, the Act has remained unmodified since it was enacted more than forty years ago. In view of the changed circumstances after the attainment of independence and the wide variety of unscrupulous methods which anti-national elements have of late been adopting to secure their ends, it has become necessary to amend the Act suitably to remove certain short-comings and to make it more effective.

- 2. The following are the main features of the Bill:-
- (1) It is proposed to widen the scope of sections 3 and 5 of the Act by bringing within their ambit cases of secret official codes, etc., the disclosure of which is likely to affect the sovereignty and integrity of India, security of the State and friendly relations with foreign States.
- (2) In a prosecution for an offence of spying under section 3 of the Act, it is necessary to prove that the accused acted for a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the State. In certain cases of spying, however, where the offence is punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years, it has been provided that it would not be necessary to prove that the accused was guilty of any particular act tending to show such a purpose, if from the circumstances of the case or the conduct of the accused or his known character as proved, it appears that his purpose was a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the State. It is considered that this special rule of evidence should be made applicable to all offences of spying punishable under the section and it is proposed to amend the section suitably for this purpose.
- (3) In the context of problems of internal and external security which the country faces at present, it is necessary to make offences under the Act cognizable and non-bailable and to enhance the maximum penalties prescribed for certain offences. It is, therefore, proposed to enhance the punishments for the offences suitably while ensuring, at the same time, that all offences under the Act become cognizable and non-bailable.

- (4) Considerable difficulty is experienced in proving offences under the Act, as very often direct evidence is not available unless one of the participants in the transaction comes forward to give such evidence. Accordingly, it is proposed to make the provisions of section 337 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (tender of pardon to accomplice) applicable to offences under sections 3, 5 and 7 of the Act as also to attempts and abetments of such offences.
- 3. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects.
